What is the Corporate Ambassador Program?

The USF Engineering Alumni Society (EAS) founded the Corporate Ambassador Program in 1998 to foster a closer relationship between College of Engineering students and the thousands of alumni working in local engineering fields. The Ambassadors serve as liaisons and the main points of contact between the engineering community at large and the College.

Through its rich academic and research programs, the USF College of Engineering offers the corporate community in the Tampa Bay Area a valuable resource for workforce development where everyone – alumni, students and faculty – benefits.

Corporate Ambassadors...

- Serve as liaisons between the College and their company's USF graduates.
- Promote corporate visibility within the College and the community.
- Attend two to three organizational meetings per academic year.
- Inform colleagues of EAS, College or University activities they can participate in.
- Earn participation points toward Corporate Ambassador of the Year.
